

ABSTRACT

The study entitled "PHENOMENON OF TEENAGE BEHAVIOUR BROKEN HOME IN BPI SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL BANDUNG CITY". Teen broken home in this research is a teenager who has a serious problem, namely the occurrence of disharmony in the family that has a negative impact and greatly affect their behaviour in everyday life.

This research aims to know because result of what caused a teenager even reckless in doing negative things even though he knows that it will ruin himself. Cause factor, behaviour change, and the impact of the condition became a phenomenon that will be discussed in this study in accordance with the theory that the researcher use.

This research method using qualitative research methods by using the theory of phenomenology. The technique of data collection through the study of librarianship, the observation field, and in depth interview with the participants or informants as many as ten people students school teen schoolgirl sitting in class XI BPI SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL BANDUNG CITY.

The results of this study, adolescents often feel less noticed by his parents so make it free in doing any thing, in addition to overcoming the sense of loneliness and the problems that are being encountered, teens often do negative things only for his joy solely in order to forget about all the problems that are being encountered. This is an urge from within itself, and it could also be because the urge or the influence of the social environment that did less well.

Advice wanted delivered by researchers for teenagers who have a similar problems to become closer to God, and stay away from things that if it can be self destructive. Sharing your story to people who are deemed able to provide positive input and can be trusted, so as not to nurture that problem alone because it will disrupt the lives of the everyday.