The hypotheses formulated by the writer are: (a) the writers are able to implement the study on meaning interpretation in text structure of movie reviews by using sugestopedia method to the 11th grade students; (b) the 11th grade students are able to follow the study on meaning interpretation in text structure of movie reviews by using sugestopedia method; (c) the sugestopedia method is effective to use in the study on meaning interpretation in text structure of movie reviews to the 11th grade students.

The study results are as follow:

- a. The writers are able to implement the study on meaning interpretation in text structure of movie reviews by using sugestopedia method to the 11th grade students. This can be proven by the result of learning activity which is 3,50.*
- b. The 11th grade students are able interpret meaning in text structure of movie reviews. This can be proven by the improvement of the study result that reached 19,2, from the average result of pre-test; 53,23, becomes 72,06 in the post-test. 3*
- c. The sugestopedia method is effective to use in the study on meaning interpretation in text structure of movie reviews to the 11th grade students. This can be proven by the result of statistical test $t_{count} > t_{table}$, which is $7,16 > 2,05$ from 95% of confidence, 5% of significant value, and 29 degree of liberty.*
