

ABSTRACT

The need of transportation in Indonesia is growing significantly, the growing not only in numbers but a lot of kind transportation device also growing, the three wheel lifting transportation in this past two years get a lot of request, it function to bring stuff or people.

But the industrial growing in vehicle making in this country really growing slow, so right now we get it from another country. So the purpose in this work is to lift the production inside the country with the quality and the price that not have much different from import product.