THE APPLICATION OF MODEL PROBLEM BASED LARNING TO IMPROVE LEARNING OUTCOMES AND HONEST ATTITUDE ON THE MATTER THE HOME ENVIRONMENT AND SCHOOLDAYS

By
Mirda Nur Rohman
125060011

ABSTRACT

Class Action Research (CAR) is implemented in the SDIT Al-Madani Prima with the subject is class III. As for the research objectives of this class action is to improve the attitude of Honesty and Student Learning Outcomes. In this study researchers doing research on KD Maintain the natural environment and make around the House, with the model of Problem Based Learning in the lesson. The object of research is the grade III by the number of students 25 persons, comprising 11 boys and 14 girls, as for the instruments used in the research was observation, assessment of student learning in the form of pre test and post test. Processing and data collection based on the results of tests and observation sheet. From the results of the study, the average student learning outcomes at the initial data is 66 then conducted actions in the cycle I get average results the results of the study the next 76 performed back in cycle II get the 80.2. Learning outcomes in the form of an increase in the percentage of students who complete initial value is 24% to the later Cycles I experience increased 84% being resumed on cycle II be 88% of the total 25 completely in the learning results. You can conclude that learning using Problem Based Learning model on the material environment of home and my school can improve the attitude of Honesty and student learning outcomes.

Keyword: Problem Based Learning, Honest Attitude, and the results of the study.