ABSTRACT

The title of this study is "Learning Analyzing Intrinsic Elements In Short Text Using Jigsaw Model On Student Class XI SMAN 1 Rancaekek Lesson Year 2017-2018". The muddle of issues that the authors propose is; 1) whether the author is able to carry out learning activities to analyze the intrinsic elements of the short story text by using the jigsaw model on the students of grade XI SMAN 1 Rancaekek? 2) whether grade XI student SMAN 1 Rancaekek able to analyze intrinsic element in short story text correctly? 3) whether the jigsaw learning model is effective in learning to analyze intrinsic elements in grade XI SMAN 1 Rancaekek ?. This research uses experimental research method that its implementation uses quasi experiment type with design of one group pretest-posttest. The results of his research are as follows; 1) the writer is able to carry out the study of analyzing intrinsic element in short story text by using jigsaw model. This is evident from the average value of preparation and implementation of learning of 3.7. 2) students of class XI MIA 5 SMAN 1 Rancaekek able to analyze intrinsic element in short story text by using jigsaw model. This can be evident from pretest results with an average of 18.7 and postal results with an average of 57.1. This difference shows a difference of 38.4 resulting in an increase of pretest and postes by 38.4. Acquisition of the average value of attitude is 3.5. 3) the jigsaw model is effectively used in analyzing intrinsic elements in short story text. This is evident from the results of statistical calculations with $t_{count} > t_{table}$ ie $38.4 > 2.042$ at 95% confidence level and degrees of freedom 33. Based on research data, the authors concluded that learning to analyze intrinsic elements in short story text using jigsaw model on students of class XI SMAN 1 Rancaekek is well done and successful.
