

ABSTRACT

This thesis research aims to study, evaluate, and study the role of parents in learning the motivation of children in the city of Bandung. The research method used is a research method with qualitative research. One of the characteristics of qualitative research is descriptive in which data gathered in the form of words, images and not numbers. The study technique used is a case study. The research subjects were informants or informants who provided various information needed during the research process. In this study the informants were taken from the foster parents. The results showed the role of large people. The duty of foster parents is not only to handle foster children, but foster parents also help guide, teach, train and protect foster children. The results of the conclusions from the findings and discussion of the field about foster parents in learning foster children's motivation. Through in-depth interviews with informants obtained, can help writers for research purposes. Can help parents to learn the motivation of children in institutions so that they can be motivated and also more active in terms of learning.

Keywords: role, foster parents, foster children, motivation to learn