ABSTRACT

The purpose of this study was to analyze the intrinsic elements in a collection of three short stories by Putu Wijaya's compass by describing the learning plan and describing the teaching materials in the implementation of learning using a structural approach for grade IX SMP students. This research was conducted to provide a solution for educators regarding the selection of appropriate teaching materials in learning to analyze short stories in junior high schools. This research is a qualitative descriptive study. The qualitative descriptive method was used to analyze and describe the intrinsic elements of Putu Wijaya's three Kompas short stories. The data source in this study is a collection of the Kompas by Putu Wijaya. The results of the short story analysis by Putu Wijaya include elements of character and characterization, themes, plot / plot, setting, message, and language style. including the following. The comparison of all short stories consists of six themes including three major themes and three minor themes. 10 characters and characterizations, three plots, nine settings, three messages, and five styles of language. The results are taken from three short story titles, including short stories LOP, Wakyat, and Boko. Each short story has its own uniqueness and different characteristics. The results of further research are used as an effort to select teaching materials and implement them into teaching materials for literary appreciation learning activities in junior high schools, especially short story learning in class IX. In this thesis, teaching materials have been made in the form of lesson plans and have been assessed based on the variables that have been determined according to the expert judgment. The elements of language style in the collection of short stories written by Putu Wijaya in this study can be implemented for teaching materials in class IX SMP.
