

ABSTRACT

Sebrina Anasthasya (2020): Implementation of the E-Voting System in the Election of OSIS Chairperson in Developing the Democratic Character of Students.

Indonesia as a country with a democratic system, in the process of selecting its leaders is used to the tradition of voting by using paper. The election of the student council president is a form of democratic process at the school level. To embody a good democratic process begins with the democratic cultural behavior of each individual as a voter. The effort made by schools as educational institutions and agents of change is to collaborate between technology and democracy. SMAN 23 Bandung is one of the school that is in the election of student council president for the 2019-2020 period implementing the E-Voting system in the student council president election. The purpose of this research is aims to determine the role of the E-Voting system in developing students' democratic character. This research uses descriptive study method, the data collection used is by interview, literature study and documentation study. The population in this study were students of class XI and teachers of SMAN 23 Bandung. Based on the results of the research showed that by implementing the E-Voting system in the election of OSIS chairperson for the 2019-2020 period showed a more significant development compared to the election of OSIS chairperson by using a paper.

Keyword: Election of The Student Council President, E-Voting, Democratic Character