ABSTRACT

This research is entitled Objective Analysis Of Characters And Characteristics Oriented On Moral Value In A Collection Of Fabel Nusantara Favorites Of Astri Damayanti's Works And Its Accordance With The Requirements Of Teaching Materials For Class VII SMP. This study uses descriptive qualitative research methods. In this study, the author uses an objective approach. The objective approach is a literary approach that assesses the literary work itself, without involving outside things. Aspects that are studied in this objective analysis are characters and characterizations oriented to the moral values contained in the collection of fables, which later this collection of fables can be used as alternative teaching materials. The collection of short stories used is the short story by Astri Damayanti, entitled The Favorite Archipelago Fable Collection. The author uses a collection of fables, because it contains various characters that contain moral values, which can be examples and role models for students.
