ABSTRACT

The activity of understanding the content of novel literary works is very important because in learning literature at school, not a few students lack understanding and it is difficult to determine the elements contained in literary works, such as in determining the plot elements contained in literary works, such as in determining the plot elements in Mommy ASF Layangan Putus novel and to increase understanding in literary learning which is closely related to the preparation of LKPD used as an alternative to indonesian slass XII teacher materials in high cshool. This research is a descriptive qualitative research. In this case, the writer acts as the research instrument. The results of the study show that there is 1 exposition structure data, in the minddle there are 5 conflict, 5 complications data, and 4 climax data. Also, there are 6 completion data. Based on the results of the LKPD trial to two certified educators at SMAN 1 Margaasih with good value validation, and tested on ten students scored with sufficient category scores, and eight student received good point. Therefore, the results of this analysis can be used as an alternative indonesia language teaching material in the form of LKPD in class XII in SMA.
