Dear Editor
Jurnal Aisyah: Jurnal Ilmu Kesehatan (JIKA) Review

I read and use scientific articles published in JIKA.
The performance of the JIKA was excellent, and the published article helped me conduct research and write scientific reports.

I am Ummi Maskanah, author from Universitas Pasundan, Bandung.
I have completed a scientific article entitled "Implementation of Restorative Justice in Medical Dispute Resolution."

I hope this article can be published in the JIKA because exciting findings in the scientific report can become new treasures in science, especially health sciences.
I am willing to go through the review process following JIKA standards.

Best Regards,

Ummi Maskanah
Universitas Pasundan, Bandung

Dear

Ummi Maskanah
Universitas Pasundan, Bandung

Thank you for submitting your manuscript to JIKA.

We have completed our evaluation, and the reviewers recommend reconsidering your manuscript following minor revisions. Please resubmit your revised manuscript by January 23rd, 2023, or ask whether an alternate date would be acceptable. We invite you to send it back after addressing the comments below.

When revising your manuscript, consider carefully all issues mentioned in the reviewers' comments: outline every change made in response to their comments and provide suitable explanations for any remarks not addressed. Please also note that the revised submission may need to be re-reviewed.

To submit your revised manuscript, please log in as an author at this email, and navigate to the "Revision" folder. JIKA values your contribution, and I look forward to receiving your revised manuscript.

Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. Clarify the study's objective: The abstract could benefit from a clear statement of the study's objective. Specify the specific research question or aim the study seeks to address concerning implementing restorative justice in medical dispute resolution.
2. Provide a brief overview of restorative justice principles: It would be helpful to briefly explain the core principles and values of restorative justice in the context of medical disputes. This would give readers a better understanding of the study's theoretical framework.
3. Expand on the methodology: The abstract mentions that the study is a normative legal study that investigates secondary data, but it would be beneficial to provide more details about the methodology employed. Explain the specific sources of secondary data used and how they were analyzed.
4. Discuss the significance of the findings: While the abstract briefly mentions the research findings, it would be valuable to elaborate on their significance. Explain how the findings contribute to the existing body of knowledge on the implementation of restorative justice in medical dispute resolution and highlight any practical implications.
5. Consider including limitations: It is important to acknowledge the limitations of the study. Discuss any potential constraints, such as data availability or scope, which may impact the generalizability or comprehensiveness of the findings. This would enhance the overall transparency and credibility of the research.

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear
Ummi Maskanah
Universitas Pasundan, Bandung

Thank you for your efforts to make improvements to your article.
Based on the Reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, you have to improve on a few more points. Hopefully, you are willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. Elaborate on the role of restorative justice in medical dispute resolution: Provide a more detailed explanation of how restorative justice can be specifically applied to medical disputes. Discuss the potential benefits and outcomes of using a restorative justice approach, such as improved doctor-patient relationships, increased patient satisfaction, and enhanced trust in the healthcare system.
2. Include examples or case studies: To strengthen the argument for the effectiveness of restorative justice in medical dispute resolution, consider incorporating relevant examples or case studies. These examples can demonstrate real-life instances where restorative justice approaches have been successfully implemented, showcasing their positive impact on the parties involved and the overall resolution process.
3. Address potential challenges and obstacles: Acknowledge and discuss any potential challenges or obstacles that may arise when implementing restorative justice in the context of medical disputes. This could include power imbalances, cultural differences, or resistance from traditional legal systems. Providing insights on how these challenges can be overcome or minimized would add depth to the discussion.
4. Explore the role of stakeholders: Analyze the roles and responsibilities of various stakeholders in implementing restorative justice in medical dispute resolution. Discuss how doctors, patients, legal authorities, and other relevant parties can actively contribute to the success of restorative justice practices. This analysis can highlight the importance of collaborative efforts and the need for a supportive ecosystem to facilitate the adoption of restorative justice.
5. Consider future directions and recommendations: Conclude the article by suggesting potential future directions for research and practice. Identify areas where further investigation is needed to enhance the understanding and application of restorative justice in medical disputes. Additionally, provide recommendations for policymakers, healthcare providers, and legal institutions on promoting and integrating restorative justice principles into existing frameworks.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
