Editor and Reviewer comments:

Reviewer #1:

1. Consider providing a clear and concise introduction in the abstract that explains the significance of the study. The current abstract lacks an explicit statement of the problem or research gap being addressed.
2. It would be helpful to expand on the mixed-methods approach used in the research design. Provide more details on the specific qualitative and quantitative methods employed and how they were integrated to ensure a comprehensive analysis.
3. Elaborate on the specific parameters needed to synergize the policies of the central and regional governments in the provision of housing for low-income communities. Clarify how these parameters contribute to achieving the desired outcomes and address the challenges faced in housing procurement.
4. Include a discussion on the potential limitations of the study. Consider mentioning any constraints or biases that may have influenced the findings and suggest avenues for future research to overcome these limitations.
5. In the keywords section, it would be beneficial to include additional relevant terms that reflect the specific aspects of the study, such as "housing affordability," "social housing," or "public-private partnerships." This will enhance the visibility and discoverability of the article in relevant literature searches..

I hope you can make improvements as soon as possible and send the revised article again via this email.

Dear

Iwan Satibi, et. al
Pasundan University, Bandung, Indonesia

Thank you for your team's efforts to improve your team article.
Based on the Reviewers' considerations, the article has, at some point, increased.
However, your team has to improve on a few more points. Hopefully, your team is willing to do it.

Please follow the following revision instructions:

#Reviewer 2:

1. Provide more specific information on the research methodology employed in the sequential exploratory model. Describe the sequence of data collection and analysis, as well as the rationale behind using this particular approach. Additionally, consider elaborating on any ethical considerations or potential limitations associated with the chosen methodology.
2. Expand on the dimensions of perception equality, communication patterns, attitudes of policy implementers, resource potential, and bureaucratic structure within the priority scale model for synergy construction. Include clear definitions or operationalizations of these dimensions to enhance the readers' understanding and facilitate replication or application of the model in other contexts.
3. To strengthen the article, consider including examples or case studies that demonstrate successful implementation of synergy models in the provision of housing for low-income communities. Real-life examples can enhance the practical applicability of the research findings and provide insights into the challenges and opportunities faced in implementing such policies.
4. Provide a more comprehensive discussion on the implications of the study's findings. Discuss how the identified parameters and the synergy model can contribute to more effective and sustainable housing policies for low-income communities. Consider exploring the potential impact on social equity, affordability, and access to housing, as well as the potential role of community engagement in policy implementation.
5. Consider suggesting policy recommendations or practical guidelines based on the study's findings. Provide actionable steps or strategies that policymakers, government agencies, and other relevant stakeholders can consider to enhance the collaboration and coordination between the central and regional governments in housing procurement for low-income communities.

Articles that have been revised and please send them back via this email.
