

Declaration of Originality

I declare that this thesis is entirely a product of my original work and to the best of my knowledge there are no false information used in this paper. Every source including journal article, books, websites, and other resources are fully acknowledged and cited based on the appropriate and accepted scholar standard. I am aware that plagiarism and false source representation are significant offenses against academic integrity, and I will face penalties for my conduct. I therefore reaffirm that I respect the values of honesty and integrity, knowing how important they are in academic research.
