ABSTRACT

This study aims to examine the relationship between Brand Equity and Brand Loyalty, mediated by Brand Attitude, through a survey approach involving customers of the Hanzira Muslim fashion Brand in Bandung. The research is motivated by the intense competition in the Muslim fashion industry and the growing importance of consumer perception in shaping Brand Loyalty. The phenomenon of loyalty formed independently of membership programs drives a deeper exploration of the role of consumer attitudes toward the Brand. This research adopts a quantitative method, utilizing a survey with 100 respondents. Data were analyzed using descriptive and verificative approaches, including regression and mediation tests. The results show that Brand Equity has a positive influence on both Brand Attitude and Brand Loyalty. Furthermore, Brand Attitude significantly mediates the effect of Brand Equity on Brand Loyalty. This study highlights the importance of consumer perception of Brand image, quality, and alignment with values and lifestyle as key strategies to foster loyalty and enhance competitiveness, particularly for Hanzira in the Muslim fashion industry in Bandung.
